Farm Bloc Leaders Claim
Strength To Wreck
Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Claiming enough votes to wreck the Republican's $600,000,000 tariff bill, the bi-partisan senate farm bloc was unable to agree today on how to go about it, so the opening of their contest against the measure probably will be delayed until Monday.

Leaders of the bloc on both the Democratic and Republican sides have about decided to drop the Thomas resolution which seeks to eliminate all the industrial rate increases in the bill, preserving only the higher rates for agriculture. The absent author of the proposed resolution, Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, has informed them he will not introduce it if some other means is found to accomplish the same end.

Senator Borah of Idaho in whose office the Republican bloc members are holding daily meetings, favors a motion to recommit the bill to the senate finance committee.

Democrats have indicated they might go along on a motion to recommit, but indicated they would like to have the motion come from the Republican side of the chamber. They also have indicated a willingness now to drop the Thomas project.

The Republicans are watching these preliminary troubles of the bloc with glee. Even if the bloc has the majority it claims it would not dare to risk wrecking the whole bill, according to the administration group. They think too many Democrats are interested in getting individual tariff protection for their southern states to vote either for the Thomas resolutions or for a motion to recommit, even if they voted last June for the Borah resolution designed to carry out the same idea.

Borah claims to have won two votes since his resolution was defeated 38 to 39. But if some Democrats absented themselves from the chamber or changed their votes Borah's theoretical majority would be wiped out.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson, minority floor leader, returned today for a series of conferences among his own party leaders and some satisfactory plan for an opposition program may develop. Robinson may call a conference Friday of all senate Democrats to decide the issue.

The Republicans intend to offer nothing at this time. "We have put our bill down and there it is," Watson, Republican floor leader said. "That is our speech, and if the opposition wants to fight, it is up to them. I am ready for a vote now. We have no speeches to make."

The bill is not formally before the senate yet. The unfinished business is the Jones resolution carrying out President Hoover's recommendation for a joint congressional committee to study transfer of the prohibition enforcement bureau from the treasury to the justice department.

CLEMENCEAU ILL;
CALL SPECIALIST

PARIS, Sept. 5.—The illness of George Clemenceau, French war premier and one of the authors of the treaty of Versailles, reached an alarming stage today and caused the physician attending him to summon the vendeuse the eminent specialist, Doctor L. De Gennes, who attended Field Marshal Ferdinand Foch during the latter's last hours.

Clemenceau, now in his eighty-eighth year, has been suffering from poor health for several weeks. He was not considered gravely ill until a few days ago when pulmonary congestion developed. The physician attending him battled with the condition until today when he decided to bring Doctor De Gennes to the bedside.

FLYERS SCORE AIR RACES

Participants Criticise Management Of Events;
Delay Is Charged

CLEVELAND, Sept. 5.—Charges of mismanagement were directed against officials of the national air races today by a group of prominent flyers who aided in making the affair one of the classics of aviation history.

While the show itself was one of the greatest events ever staged here, participants said it was a "frost" as far as they were concerned.

Though the last races were run off more than thirty-six hours ago, official results in the various events are not yet ready. Floyd J. Logan, air race chairman, announced today it would probably be Saturday night before they would be in shape for release.

Delay in paying off prize money and presenting trophies has caused many of the fliers to announce disapproval of the management.

Mrs. Phoebe Omile, winner of the light plane class in the women's derby, charged the contest committee functioned poorly before the races started.

When the women's derby started at Clover Field, Santa Monica, Cal., on Aug. 18, she said, the only definite thing the entrants knew was that they were to finish at Cleveland. How they were to come here had not been definitely settled, Mrs. Omile declared.

Mrs. Omile said the women flyers did not get an official list of stops till they reached El Paso, Tex., over 1,000 miles on their way to Cleveland.

Mrs. Omile also protested the disapproval of prizes. Although she was winner of the light plane class she only received $500 for her flight across the country. She claims that she won the same amount in a closed course event in thirty minutes.

"True I won the aero trophy for efficiency but one can't eat trophies," she said. "Counting the cost of my plane I spent $7500 to compete in the women's derby. Two days before the start of the race when it looked like there would be no entries in the light plane class I received a wire from Mr. Logan offering me $650 if I competed. I A.

Thea Rasche, noted German aviator, pointed out that she received $75 prize money for her eight-day trip across the country.

Vern Roberts, who flew a monoplane in a number of closed course races, also joined the protest, stating there was no reason why trophies in the various races had not been distributed when some of the winners were announced Monday night at Public Hall.

Maj. Luke Christopher, secretary of the race committee of the National Aeronautical Association, sponsors of the races, had no comment to make on the management of the races at present but said he was filling a report with the N. A. A.

Both Charles W. Meyers, chief test pilot at Great Lakes Aircraft Corporation, and Tex Rankin, west coast flyer, criticized the contest committee for its routing of derbies. Meyers contends that the route of the Miami derby was along some of the worst country he ever was asked to fly over.

Rankin revealed that at one time the contest committee would have had the flyers in the Portland derby skip Fargo, N. D., as a control stop, which would have forced them down without gas before they would have reached the next scheduled stop.

Both Charles W. Meyers, chief test pilot at Great Lakes Aircraft Corporation and Tex Rankin, west coast flyer, criticized the contest committee for its routing of derbies. Meyers contends that the route of the Miami derby was along some of the worst country he ever was asked to fly over.

The jury, obtained after state and defense counsel had exercised a large share of their challenges, is comprised of four farmers, two textile workers, a grocer, a steel worker, a railway mail clerk, a railway shop employee, a newspaper vendor and a carpenter. All but two are married and all but one are church-goers.

The thirteen men defendants face death in the electric chair as the maximum penalty if convicted of murdering Aderholt while the three women prisoners are being tried for second degree murder which carried penalties of from two to thirty years in prison.

Sophie Melvin, the youngest defendant and organizer of the Young Pioneers, a Communist body, is 19 years old. She went to work at the age of 14 in a New York millinery factory, was in the Passaic strike and last year organized the children miners relief committee of New York. ALLEGED ELECTION FRAUD IS REVEALED IN OHIO PRECINCT

BUCKLEY, O., Sept. 5.—Criminal prosecution appeared imminent today in the case of alleged election irregularities in a Clevelin, Ohio, precinct in the recent primary.

An all-day questioning was conducted here yesterday by state and county authorities.

Prosecutor J. Dudley Sears accused Mrs. Edna Nelson, Democratic judge of Precinct D, with making the second mark on each of the questionable ballots. Precinct D was where 69 out of 110 Democratic ballots were marked for two majority candidates.

Sears had asked Mrs. Nelson to make several crosses on a tablet.

WORKHOUSE PROBE STARTS IN DAYTON

DAYTON, O., Sept. 5.—The city workhouse probe was under way today after suspension yesterday of John P. Rice, guard, by F. O. Elscherger, city manager, who charged Rice, with two federal prisoners was intoxicated when arrested in a speakeasy at Cleveland, during a police raid.

According to Elscherger, Rice was to be questioned about the last remarks made by Aderholt as he lay dying from wounds. State attorneys expect their testimony to refute reports that Aderholt requested no one be prosecuted for his death.

BEAVERCREEK WILL VOTE ON NEW SCHOOL

CONSOLIDATION OF SCHOOLS WILL COME BEFORE ELECTORATE

Propose $155,000 Bond Issue To Finance Project

Voters of Beavercreek Twp. school district will be called upon at the regular election November 5 to approve a bond issue of $155,000 for the purpose of financing construction of a new consolidated school building in the township.

Erection of the proposed new building, which will be two-story, of brick construction, containing twenty-four rooms and with a capacity range of from 600 to 900 children, was authorized in a resolution passed with a dissenting vote by the township board of education Wednesday night.

Plans for the new building call for a separate auditorium and gymnasium which in an emergency can be combined in order to accommodate in excess of 1,000 persons.

The resolution declared erection of the projected structure a necessity because of present overcrowded conditions in the Beavercreek High School and because of the rundown condition of the various schools.

The consolidated building will eliminate about fourteen one-room "Little Red Schoolhouses" in the township, reducing the number of one-room schools left in Greene County to twenty-four.

It will also mark the passing of the present high school building, built about 1880 which is of historical interest because of the fact Beavercreek Twp. is credited with being the first township in the entire state to have its own school superintendent and its own high school. It is probable that the abandoned buildings will be sold.

The school board did not vote on suggested centralization of schools of the township, having deemed consolidation more advisable. Under the latter plan it is not mandatory upon the one-room schools to combine in the new building but this would be necessary under the centralization system.

A site for the new building, providing the bond issue carries, has not been decided upon by the school board, which has taken no steps in that direction.

Tentative plans for the building are being drawn by C. W. Brown, Cincinnati architect, who was represented at Wednesday night's meeting.

The $155,000 bond issue will extend over a period of twenty-five years and was certified to County Auditor P. H. Creswell, Thursday, who will estimate the annual average increase in taxes that will be necessary to carry out the project.

The school board estimated that erection of the new building will mean an average increase in annual taxes of $2.50 per $1,000 property valuation over the twenty-five year period. The school district has a tax duplicate of more than four and one-half million dollars.

It is pointed out that the present school enrollment in the township is about 600 children and that the high school building is taxed beyond capacity. The building, while in fair condition, does not measure up to the requirements of the state department, the requirements having been changed considerably since the structure was built.

Harry E. Ferguson is president of the school board and Carl Merrick is clerk. Other members are: Horace Ankeney, S. H. Shawhan, George Shank and George Hare, P. G. Meranda is superintendent of the township schools.

To Identify
Genuine Aspirin

THE increasing use of Bayer Aspirin every year is proof that it has no ill effects. It is the accepted antidote for pain. It always helps; it never harms. Quick relief when you've a headache, or cold; or are suffering from neuralgia or neuritis. Rheumatic pains yield, too, if you'll only give these tablets a chance. But you want genuine Aspirin, so look for the Bayer Cross on every tablet. The box always bears the name Bayer and the word genuine printed in red.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monacetylcelulose of Salicylic acid

ENTERTAINS WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Mrs. Charles Bickett, Hoop Road, was a delightful hostess when she entertained forty members of the Women's Missionary Society of the Second United Presbyterian Church at her home, Wednesday.

The meeting opened with devotions by Mrs. Flora Hopping. The subject of the day was "The Contribution to America by the Negro and Indian." Mrs. C. R. McClellan read an interesting paper on the "Negro," and Mrs. Roy McClellan on the "Indian." Several members of the society discussed the topic. A letter from Miss Josephine Martin of Avalon High School at Patankot, India, was read.

Miss Margaret Moorehead, president of the society, gave a short talk concerning Miss Anna Gordon's talk at Chautauqua, N. Y., this summer. Miss Gordon is the world president of the W. C. T. U.

A short business session was held at the close of the meeting and the president appointed her committees for the Women's Presbyterian which is to be held in the Second United Presbyterian Church, this city, October 17.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Ralph McClellan, Mrs. Leigh Taylor, Mrs. Ernest Bull, Mrs. James Bickett and Mrs. Robert McClellan in serving a lovely refreshment course.

WILL SPEAK BEFORE RUTH GUILD MEETING

Miss Emma Lyon, secretary of the joint Red Cross Chapter and Social Service League, will be the speaker at the opening meeting of the year of the Ruth Guild of the First Presbyterian Church at 6 o'clock Monday evening. The meeting will be preceded by a supper served at the church.

A splendid program has been arranged and the plans are in charge of the executive committee composed of Mrs. Arthur Perrill, Mrs. Elbert Babb, Miss Faye Ledbetter, Mrs. James Wilson III, Miss Eleanor Alexander and Mrs. George Tiffany.

MOON-LARGE NUPTIALS PERFORMED AT CHURCH

Miss Ethel Marcella Moon of Osborn and Mr. Edgar Large also of Osborn were quietly married at the First Presbyterian Church at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. The Rev. W. H. Tilford officiated.

The couple was attended by Mrs. Rafferty, sister of the bride. The bride wore a lovely frock of pink georgette.

Mr. and Mrs. Large will make their home in Osborn where Mr. Large is employed.

Mrs. J. O. Stewart of Cedarville returned home last Friday after visiting with her son, Prof. John O. Stewart and family at Richmond, Ky. DR. BEST SPEAKS AT MEDICAL MEET

Dr. Marshall Best explained his work for the last year as physician for the Greene County Children's Home at the regular monthly meeting of the Xenia Medical Society in the assembly room of the Court House, Thursday morning.

desirable to work for, as compared with others. Your neighbors will tell one another whether you are noisy after ten o'clock at night, whether you come home sober or otherwise, and whether you take good care of your car or let it rattle itself to pieces for lack of a little Sunday hammering.

But in the long run, we are judged by our children.

It is up to them to say whether we have had success or failure in life. When they have grown up, acquired experience and the wisdom that should come with it, they will reflect upon those two who were their parents.

Somehow, I feel that the judgment of the children is just. They are not well. They live with us day by day, and see us at our best and worst.

I am willing to test my case with them.

I would like to wait until they have children of their own before they pass their final judgment. That is because those who have no children are unlikely to understand the motivation of parental actions sometimes.

But if the children judge us without passion and without sentimentality, they ought to come near the truth.

More and more, sentimentality is vanishing as the children judge their parents. When they have children of their own can say with some right to speak, "Well, my mother did well (or ill), as the case may be) in such matters. My father was just (or unjust, perhaps) in his dealings with us. My parents did their best (or did not do it) in their rearing of me."

I hope my neighbors think well of me, although, to tell you the truth, I have always been rather too busy to give much heed to what they may think. I value the good opinion of those with whom I associate daily, but if I thought they misjudged my motives or misvalued my abilities sometimes, I certainly would not take up their time with explanations and justifications.

But I set great store by the opinions of my children may have of me twenty or thirty years hence. To will sing special music.

Union church services next Sunday evening will be held at the First Reformed Church instead of at the Second United Presbyterian Church, as originally scheduled. The Rev. W. W. Foust, pastor of the First Reformed Church will preach and the choir of that church will sing special music.

The World And All

BY CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

WHAT WILL THE CHILDREN THINK?

If the world notes your passing through it at all it will appraise you without giving much thought to the appraisal. Your pastor will say kind things at your funeral, but he will have his own mental reservations, perhaps. Your banker will estimate your worth according to your overdrafts or lack of them, your loans, payments, and the value of your account to him. Your employer will note whether you have helped him make more money, and your employees will foot up those qualities which make you desirable or undesirable.

It is up to them to say whether we have had success or failure in life.

Over Sixty Five Years

Bond Saleswoman Earnings $10,000 Annually

By Central Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 5.—An ambition to increase the family income prompted Mrs. Mayme W. Armstrong of this city to resign her position as school teacher and start selling bonds. This was ten years ago. She is now believed to be the leading bond saleswoman in the middle west, if not in the nation.

Mrs. Ward Huston and son Tom, N. Galloway St., returned home Tuesday after spending several weeks visiting in the East.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lawson, N. King St., returned home the first four weeks after spending several days with friends in Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. Cora Levalley, Chestnut St., has returned home after spending a week in Detroit and points of interest in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Levalley, Chestnut St., had as their guests at 6 o'clock luncheon, Labor Day: Mrs. James Fifer, Kendallville, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Even Bone, Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Leychner and daughter, Pamier, Jackson, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Edwards have home after a pleasant visit with their son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wilke, Columbus. They also attended the Ohio State Fair.

Mrs. Maude Wynn Monroe, 8 Market St., left Thursday morning for Oberlin where she will spend the week-end with friends. She will act as bride's maid at the wedding of Miss Ella Cope which will take place at the First Congregational Church in that city.

Mr. George Shoup, Philadelphia, Pa., who has been visiting in this city has gone to Cleveland to visit his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Farrell for a few days.

All members of Xenia Aerie, F. O. E. are urged to be present Thursday evening when a Worthy Chaplain will be elected. Other business of importance will be transacted also.

Mr. Samuel Baker, near Cedarville, was removed to the McClellan Hospital last Saturday where he is undergoing medical treatment.

Mrs. Sarah K. Collins, W. Third St., who suffered a paralytic stroke early Sunday morning, does not show any improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hall, E. Church St., are leaving Friday for a motor trip of three weeks through the South and East.

Messrs. Donald Currie of Cleveland and Arthur Currie, New York City, are spending a few weeks in this city with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Currie, W. Church St.

Mrs. Philip Sattler, Bellevue, Ky., and Miss Matilda Campbell, Avondale, Cincinnati returned to their homes Wednesday after spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Jacobs, S. Detroit St.

The regular meeting of the Phoenix Rebekah Lodge will be held at the L. O. O. F. Hall Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Members are asked to bring dues.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Corsette and two sons, Detroit, Mich., who have been visiting Mrs. Corsette's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace, N. Galloway St., returned home Tuesday.

The Sara M. Chew Missionary Society of Trinity M. E. Church will hold its first meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. H. C. Aultman, W. Market St., Monday evening. Mrs. George Street will tell of her visit to the home at Cedarburg, Ga., and of the summer school of missions at Lakeside. There will be special music and other interesting features of the program. Members are asked to bring dues.

Mr. Julian R. Doggett, east of Xenia, has returned home after enjoying a two week's trip through northern Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana. Points of interest included the Ford Plant at Detroit, Mackinac Island, the government locks at Sault St. Marie, the Algoma Steel and Paper Plants at Ontario, Canada, and points of interest in Chicago.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

A GREAT INVITATION — Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light.—Matthew 11:28, 29, 30.

MR. RASKOB WAS WRONG

So many things happen in this modern world and happen so rapidly that twelve months is a long time to keep in mind the details of a speech or campaign; but some things stick in spite of all distractions, and a good many Americans unquestionably recollect that last year about this time, and a little later, some of the leading Democratic campaigners were trying very hard to disseminate the idea that there really was very little, if any, difference between the Republican and Democratic tariff policies.

Earnest efforts were made to explain away Governor Smith's eulogy of the Underwood tariff law in his speech of acceptance, and John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, asserted hotly that the tariff was not an issue, and that there was "absolutely no difference" between the positions of the parties on that question.

However, the voters of the country were more than mildly skeptical about the accuracy of these gentlemen as diagnosticians, and it is quite as well that they were. They thus preserved themselves from an attack of violent disappointment.

For it is now evident that Mr. Raskob and the rest were seriously mistaken. If what they averred had been an accurate interpretation of the mind of their party there would have been no room for the serious tariff row now looming up in congress, particularly in the senate. Since the Republicans in framing their latest tariff measure have done no more than carry out consistently the policy of their party from the beginning, there would have been neither occasion nor excuse for the railing yelps being emitted by Senator Pat Harrison about "this tariff iniquity." If those party spokesmen had been delivering "straight goods" to the public, Mr. Harrison and all the other professional malcontents would be sitting silent, or would be joining with the Republicans in securing the passage of a new law with as little delay and friction as possible. All members of congress, regardless of party affiliation, would be working together in harmony for the good of the land and in order to place on the books the protective tariff legislation necessary for insurance of continuing national prosperity.

That is what would be happening if Mr. Raskob or even Mr. Smith had been accurate interpreters of the Democratic party mind and intent. But they weren't. And if the people of the United States had listened to them and put the Democrats in power and so had taken the tariff from the hands of its friends and put it into the hands of its enemies, America would have found itself in a pretty mess.

Some readers may inquire, "Why recall all this now, when the campaign is over?"

Because by learning lessons from the past, it is possible to guard against mistakes in the future.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

In this period, laughingly referred to as the Machine Age, the higher priced shops on the Rue de la Sap are taking to the custom-made idea with an enthusiasm that verges on hysteria. It is one of their tragedies that patrons who can afford to have their step-ins individually measured have usually lost their swells contours and that the final product might be roughly classed as out-size.

HANDBAGS TODAY

By their ads ye shall know them. Here's one culled from a morning paper setting forth the virtues of a five dollar painted leather handbag.

"As someone remarked," babbles the ad writer, "it's almost an overnight bag except for the tooth-brush... For there's everything else one needs for a trip to town or ad day at the club. A red enameled lighter, lip stick, compact, comb, mirror, leather case for cigarettes and purse to match, all fitted in modernistic designs... and in colors to go with almost everything."

If you're over forty, after reading that ad, and trying to remember what Maw used to carry in her reticule, you'll sure feel the pressure of time.

FORTUNE IN WEIGHING FOLK
Few New Yorkers who weigh themselves on the penny scales that dot Broadway are aware of the romance of big business behind these machines.

The business was started in 1914 on a capital of a few thousand dollars of borrowed money. It was sold for $3,500,000. A. M. Andrews was the purchaser. Four years later he resold it to a consolidated organization for approximately $14,000,000.

At the time he sold it, the gross

daily receipts were 500 tons of pennies a day.

JUST A 10 O'CLOCK TOW

Gotham for all its Great White Way and its 33 o'clock night clubs, is a 10 O'Clock Town. At least that's what the electric light company says and they ought to know.

By analyzing the charts the company keeps you can see at a glance

what time the old town gets up, when it starts the electric toaster going and when it begins to saunter toward the Simmons.

At midnight most New Yorkers are already asleep and have been for two hours. By 1:30 a. m. the darkness and quiet have increased greatly. By 4 o'clock everybody except a few of the permanent sun-dodgers has retired. At 5 in the morning all the city is asleep. Along toward 6 things begin to stir and between 8 and 9 everything is in full blast.

During the noon hour there is a drop in the demand for current as factories and workshops turn off their machinery. Immediately after lunch the demand on the electric system begins to increase and reaches its crest at 5 o'clock. Then, as work ceases the demand for current decreases rapidly in spite of the fact that lights are being turned on everywhere. Again at 9:30 the demand decreases sharply, continuing on through midnight until the next day begins.

THE WAY of the WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON

NO AGE LIMIT

A Californian, 91 years old, cables his sweetheart, 90 years old, in Germany, to make preparations for a wedding, as he is coming home to marry her. They said goodbye sixty-five years ago. The man who doesn't know he's licked always wins in the end, and the man who never looks at the calendar of the years and never discovers he is old is the man who beats life.

A COMMON SENSE MOVE

The governor of Ohio discovers that 79 per cent of steam railroad crossings and 81 per cent of electric line crossings on the state highway system are not equipped with modern signals and warnings. He immediately calls a conference to plan for protecting unguarded crossings. Every governor of every state will do well to look into conditions on the highways. There is no such thing in all creation as an accident. Everything happens naturally as the result of a cause. Hundreds lose their lives every year in Ohio and other hundreds in other states because crossings are not equipped with bells and signals. Not to do all that we can to make travel safe and to preserve the blessings of life and health is to act in an uncivilized way.

A GENIUS IN YOUR FAMILY?

Laura Daubman, four years old, a San Francisco child, is a genius. She plays from memory the heaviest piano music. She has mastered twenty Bach preludes. Fortunately, her family give her a chance. They are aware to her tremendous talent. Watch your child. Perhaps you have a child who has the yet hidden capacity to do one thing surpassingly well. You may have in your home a genius who will earn the attention of the world. Give the child a chance at no matter what sacrifice.

ALCOHOLISM

Charts just issued by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment indicate that the alcoholic death rate is almost up to the pre-war level. Deaths by alcoholism have shown a steady rise since 1920. These are interesting statistics if accurate. An insurance company with 18,000,000 policy holders adds to the interest by declaring deaths from alcoholism among the industrial classes are as great in proportion as deaths among the wealthy, although it has been said that drinking among members of the working class has nearly disappeared.

Almost everything can be proved by figures. It depends on where you sit and what you wish to prove. Neither active wets nor active drys can be depended on for accuracy in argument. Any observer knows that prohibition doesn't prohibit, but it takes more than an observer to be sure what to do about it.

The World And All

THEY GOVERN ENGLAND

I attended a reception at which were present the leaders of the Labor party of England. Among them were nearly 200 members of parliament, many of whom are now sitting in their first parliamentary session. Premier MacDonald was present and made a short talk. He gives one the impression of a good Laborite, lately turned statesman, and anxious to progress as a statesman while still retaining his Laborite following.

These more or less radical politicians who now rule England are more intellectual than the general run of politicians. They are well read. They are up on national and international issues. They have been whetted bright and sharp by their long struggle for power.

But they are unconventional and rather picturesque. At this meeting of which I write I met many Laborite statesmen who were all dressed up. One wore a velvet smoking jacket, a white tie, and gray pants. It was an evening affair, you know. Several wore gaudy compromises between evening dress and something else.

One wore a cutaway coat and a big blue-and-red tie run through a ring such as the dandies of 1860 used to affect. There were several ascot ties, and you may have to ask your eldest uncle about them. The women were dressed quite unconventionally in many cases, but I must say for them that none of them was dressed like Queen Alexandria.

William Bennett, member for Battersea, tells me that he was tending an electric crane in a steel factory right up to the time of his election to the house of commons. He has no exalted ideas about the Labor party's mission. He thinks it will give the people as good a government as is possible at the present time.

"And what about the royal family?" I ask. "Do you Laborites want to do away with royalty?"

"Not at all," he answers. "That's something that doesn't worry us.

We have many important issues to consider, and if we are to make reforms in government, we won't waste time with any controversy over royalty. It isn't important."

Bennett introduces me to Miss Jennie Lee, the youngest member of parliament, a school teacher of 24. She is the daughter of a coal miner, and I get the impression that she is rather dizzied by her success at the polls. She signed me over so little, and in return I have forgotten her name. I'm sure she wouldn't like that.

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

If you are a freedom loving modern, the chances are that you have discarded the corset—that you've been luxuriating in perfect body freedom during these last several years, or at least during the summer. And you're probably heard with some apprehension that corsets are coming back. You need not worry, however, for these modern corsets are as different from the old fashioned "stays" as modern frocks are different from crinolines.

In fact, it really is a good thing for womankind in general that fashion turns again to the moulded figure. Just look at you and see—well, what do you see? Here's a young girl—tall and slim to emaciation—probably she congratulates herself that she has achieved the ultimate because the scales never go over one hundred and twenty-five. But for all her thinness, she has failed to achieve that perfect symmetry without which no woman can ever be wholly beautiful—flat chested and with protruding abdomen, we would call her downright ugly were it not for the fact that familiarity with her has somewhat dimmed our critical faculties. We see them everywhere—these girls with enlarged abdomens—and while I admit that this is a fault due to posture and insufficient exercise of the right kind, still I, for one, shall be glad to see these girls correctly corseted again, for I know it will mean much in later beauty for them.

It is best—especially if you have not had much experience in selecting corsets—to go to a good shop, pay a fairly reasonable price and permit them to correctly fit your corset. Remember, a corset's main function today is to mould the body—not to restrict and confine it. And even in the case of the girl with the protruding abdomen, a correctly fitted corset will gently guide the figure, helping to restore the figure to normal proportions by means of correct posture, rather than to compress the stomach. It is really remarkable the way a correctly fitted corset can persuade even the most careless to stand or sit erect!

There are so many kinds of foundation garments on the market that every taste can be satisfied and every need taken care of. For the slim young thing, a satin or elastic girdle will probably suffice—or if she prefers, a corsette without boning. The heavier figure will need more support. Whatever type of corset you select, it will mould the figure—follow the natural curves and accentuate them, for this is to be a season of femininity and curves!

It is really remarkable the way a correctly fitted corset

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

A GREAT INVITATION—Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart; and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light.—Matthew 11:28, 29, 30.

MR. RASKOB WAS WRONG

So many things happen in this modern world and happen so rapidly that twelve months is a long time to keep in mind the details of a speech or campaign; but some things stick in spite of all distractions, and a good many Americans unquestionably recollect that last year about this time, and a little later, some of the leading Democratic campaigners were trying very hard to disseminate the idea that there really was very little, if any, difference between the Republican and Democratic tariff policies.

Earnest efforts were made to explain away Governor Smith's eulogy of the Underwood tariff law in his speech of acceptance, and John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, asserted hotly that the tariff was not an issue, and that there was "absolutely no difference" between the positions of the parties on that question.

However, the voters of the country were more than mildly skeptical about the accuracy of these gentlemen as diagnosticians, and it is quite as well that they were. They thus preserved themselves from an attack of violent disappointment.

For it is now evident that Mr. Raskob and the rest were seriously mistaken. If what they averred had been an accurate interpretation of the mind of their party there would have been no room for the serious tariff row now looming up in congress, particularly in the Senate. Since the Republicans in framing their latest tariff measure have done no more than carry out consistently the policy of their party from the beginning, there would have been neither occasion nor excuse for the railing yelps being emitted by Senator Pat Harrison about "this tariff iniquity." If those party spokesmen had been delivering "straight goods" to the public, Mr. Harrison and all the other professional malcontents would be sitting silent, or would be joining with the Republicans in securing the passage of a new law with as little delay and friction as possible. All members of congress, regardless of party affiliation, would be working together in harmony for the good of the land and in order to place on the books the protective tariff legislation necessary for insurance of continuing national prosperity.

That is what would be happening if Mr. Raskob or even Mr. Smith had been accurate interpreters of the Democratic party mind and intent. But they weren't. And if the people of the United States had listened to them and put the Democrats in power and so had taken the tariff from the hands of its friends and put it into the hands of its enemies, America would have found itself in a pretty mess.

Some readers may inquire, "Why recall all this now, when the campaign is over?"

Because by learning lessons from the past, it is possible to guard against mistakes in the future.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

In this period, laughingly referred to as the Machine Age, the daily receipts were 500 tons of higher priced shops on the Rue de la Sap are taking to the custom-made idea with an enthusiasm that verges on hysteria. It is one of their tragedies that patrons who can afford to have their step-ins individually measured have usually lost their svelte contour and that the final product might be roughly classed as out-size.

HANDBAGS TODAY

By their ads ye shall know them. Here's one culled from a morning paper setting forth the virtues of a five dollar painted leather handbag.

"As someone remarked," babbles the ad writer, "it's almost an overnight bag except for the toothbrush... For there's everything else one needs for a trip to town or ad day at the club. A red enameled lighter, lip stick, compact, comb, mirror, leather case for cigarettes and purse to match, all fitted in modernistic designs... and in colors to go with almost everything."

If you're over forty, after reading that ad, and trying to remember what Maw used to carry in her reticule, you'll sure feel the pressure of time.

FORTUNE IN WEIGHING FOLK
Few New Yorkers who weigh themselves on the penny scales of that old Broadway are aware of the romance of big business behind these machines.

The business was started in 1914 on a capital of a few thousand dollars of borrowed money. It was sold for $3,500,000. A. M. Andrews was the purchaser. Four years later he resold it to a consolidated organization for approximately $14,000,000.

At the time he sold it, the gross

THE WAY of the WORLD
By GROVE PATTERSON

NO AGE LIMIT

A California, 91 years old, cables his sweetheart, 90 years old, in Germany, to make preparations for a wedding, as he is coming home to marry her. They said goodbye sixty-five years ago. The man who doesn't know he's licked always wins in the end, and the man who never looks at the calendar of the years and never discovers he is old is the man who beats him.

A COMMON SENSE MOVE

The governor of Ohio discovers that 75 per cent of steam railroad crossings and 81 per cent of electric line crossings on the state highway system are not equipped with modern signals and warnings. He immediately calls a conference to plan for protecting unguarded crossings. Every governor of every state will do well to look into conditions on the highways. There is no such thing in all creation as an accident. Everything happens naturally as the result of a cause. Hundreds lose their lives every year in Ohio and other hundreds in other states because crossings are not equipped with bells and signals. Not to do all that we can to make travel safe and to preserve the blessings of life and health is to act in an uncivilized way.

A GENIUS IN YOUR FAMILY?

Laura Daubman, four years old, a San Francisco child, is a genius. She plays from memory the heaviest piano music. She has mastered twenty Bach preludes. Fortunately, her family give her a chance. They are aware of her tremendous talent. Watch your child. Perhaps you have a child who has the yet hidden capacity to do one thing surpassingly well. You may have in your home a genius who will earn the attention of the world. Give the child a chance at no matter what sacrifice.

ALCOHOLISM

Charts just issued by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment indicate that the alcoholic death rate is almost up to the pre-war level. Deaths by alcoholism have shown a steady rise since 1920. These are interesting statistics if accurate. An insurance company with 18,000,000 policy holders adds to the interest by declaring deaths from alcoholism among the industrial classes are as great in proportion as deaths among the wealthy, although it has been said that drinking among members of the working class has nearly disappeared.

Almost everything can be proved by figures. It depends on where you sit and what you wish to prove. Neither active wets nor active drys can be depended on for accuracy in argument. Any observer knows that prohibition doesn't prohibit, but it takes more than an observer to be sure what to do about it.

The World And All

THEY GOVERN ENGLAND

I attended a reception at which were present the leaders of the Labor party of England. Among them were nearly 200 members of parliament, many of whom are now sitting in their first parliamentary session. Premier MacDonald was present and made a short talk. He gives one the impression of a good Laborite, lately turned statesman, and anxious to progress as a statesman while still retaining his Laborite following. These more or less radical politicians who now rule England are more intellectual than the general run of politicians. They are well read. They are up on national and international issues. They have been whetted bright and sharp by their long struggle for power.

But they are unconventional and rather picturesque. At this meeting of which I write I met many Laborite statesmen who were all dressed up. One wore a velvet smoking jacket, a white tie, and gray pants. It was an evening affair, you know. Several wore gaudy compromises between evening dress and something else.

One wore a cutaway coat and a big blue-and-white tie the run through a ring, such as the dandies of 1860 used to affect. There were several ascot ties, and you may have to ask your eldest uncle about them. The women were dressed quite unconventionally in many cases, but I must say for them that none of them was dressed like Queen Alexandra.

William Bennett, member for Battersea, tells me that he was tending an electric crane in a steel factory right up to the time of his election to the house of commons. He has no exalted ideas about the Labor party's mission. He thinks it will give a good government as is possible at the present time.

"And what about the royal family?" I ask. "Do you Laborites want to do away with royalty?"

"Nothing at all," he answers. "That's not what that doesn't worry us. We have many important issues to consider, and if we are able to make reforms in government, we won't waste time with any controversy over royalty. It isn't important."

Bennett introduces me to Miss Jennie Lee, the youngest member of parliament, a school teacher of 24. She is the daughter of a coal miner, and I get the impression that she is rather dizzied by her success at the polls. She high-hatted me ever so little, and in return I have forgotten her name. I'm sure she wouldn't like that.

JUST A 10 O'CLOCK TOW
Gotham for all its Great White Way and its 33 o'clock night clubs, is a 10 O'Clock Town. At least that's what the electric light company says and they ought to know. By analyzing the charts the company keeps you can see at a glance what time the old town gets up when it starts the electric toaster going and when it begins to saunter toward the Simonds.

At midnight most New Yorkers are already asleep and have been for two hours. By 1:30 a.m. in the darkness and quiet have increased greatly. By 4 o'clock everybody except a few of the permanent sun-dodgers has retired. At 5 in the morning all the city is asleep. Along toward 6 things begin to stir and between 8 and 9 everything is in full blast.

During the noon hour there is a drop in the demand for current as factories and workshops turn off their machinery. Immediately after lunch the demand on the electric system begins to increase and reaches its crest at 5 o'clock. Then, as work ceases the demand for current decreases rapidly in spite of the fact that lights are being turned on everywhere. Again at 9:30 the demand decreases sharply, continuing on through midnight until the next day begins.

"And what about the royal family?" I ask. "Do you Laborites want to do away with royalty?"

"Nothing at all," he answers. "That's not what that doesn't worry us. We have many important issues to consider, and if we are able to make reforms in government, we won't waste time with any controversy over royalty. It isn't important."

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

If you are a freedom loving modern, the chances are that you have discarded the corset—that you've been luxuriating in perfect body freedom during these last several years, or at least during the summer. And you've probably heard with some apprehension that corsets are coming back. You need not worry, however, for these modern corsets are as different from the old fashioned "stays" as modern frocks are different from crinolines.

In fact, it really is a good thing for womankind in general that fashion turns again to the moulded figure. Just look around you and see—well, what do you see? Here's a young girl—tall and slim to emaciation—probably she congratulates herself that she has achieved the ultimate because the scales never go over one hundred and twenty-five. But for all her thinness, she has failed to achieve that perfect symmetry without which no woman can ever be wholly beautiful—flat-chested and with protruding abdomen, we would call her downright ugly were it not for the fact that familiarity with her has somewhat dimmed our critical faculties. We see them everywhere—these girls with enlarged abdomens—and while I admit that this is a fault due to posture and insufficient exercise of the right kind, still I, for one, shall be glad to see these girls correctly corseted again, for I know it will mean much in later beauty for them.

It is best—especially if you have not had much experience in selecting corsets—to go to a good shop, pay a fairly reasonable price and permit them to correctly fit your corset. Remember, a corset's main function today is to mould the body—not to restrict and confine it. And even in the case of the girl with the protruding abdomen, a correctly fitted corset will gently guide the figure, helping to restore the figure to normal proportions by means of correct posture, rather than to compress the stomach. It is really remarkable the way a correctly fitted corset can persuade even the most careless to stand or sit erect!

There are so many kinds of foundation garments on the market that every taste can be satisfied and every need taken care of. For the slim young thing—a satin or elastic girdle will probably suffice—or if she prefers, a corsette without boning. The heavier figure will need more support. Whatever type of corset you select, it will mould the figure—follow the natural curves and accentuate them, for this is to be a season of femininity and curves!

Behind the Scenes In Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—Premier Ramsey MacDonald evidently is not a canny Scot for nothing. Obviously he realizes that the ideal time to do a shrewd bargain is when the other fellow is in a bigger hurry than he is.

October clearly is inconveniently too soon for Mr. MacDonald to get away from his new job in London, to visit President Hoover in Washington.

In fact, he has so much home work on his hands that he practically had called off an earlier tentative arrangement to be here for a talk with Mr. Hoover concerning an Anglo-American compact to cut toward the two countries' navies.

Nevertheless, he now has changed his mind again, and is coming.

The truth is, cancellation of the original plan for an October conference between Premier MacDonald and President Hoover would have left the latter in rather an awkward predicament—of course, unintentionally on Mr. MacDonald's part.

The supposition that he and his expected British guest would arrive at a naval agreement, in the course of their conversation, presumably was what inspired Mr. Hoover to delay a start on three of the five cruisers which the last congress provided for, for American shipyards to work on during the current fiscal year—July 1, 1929.

Still, October is when he expects to be here, according to the present schedule.

If he and President Hoover come

Post Office Can Tie Leadership With Victory Friday

Playing the last game on its season's schedule, the Hooven and Allison Co. softball team squeezed out a 13 to 12 victory over Coates Barber Shop in a slugfest Wednesday night at Cox Field, thereby remaining in the race for the American League championship.

As the H. and A. shared with the Post Office the leadership of the league, the victory earned by the "Bluehearts" over the barbers makes it necessary for the mailmen to win their final game with the Rotary Friday night to gain a title for the title.

Pique faces a nine-game schedule and will play its opening game September 28 with Urbana at home. Aside from the usual five league games, the 1929 grid chart for the Indians includes contests with Urbana, Bradford, Lima South and Columbus Bexley.

Bob Cron will captain the Pique eleven this season and the six other letter men are all veterans with plenty of experience.

A number of weeks ago when summer term opened at Ohio University, Athens, Miss. Heldorn enrolled in a class in football coaching. She took the course because she wanted to become familiar with the game.

After eight weeks study of the finer secrets, as propounded by Coach William Trautwein, Miss Heldorn expressed the belief she can take over a group of aspiring youths in some high school and develop a winning eleven.

Miss Heldorn majored in physical education in the college of education and intends to follow coaching work.

PARTY WOMEN MEET

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5.—Women from all parts of the state gathered here today to attend a meeting of the board of governors of the Ohio Council of Republican Women. Mrs. Wilma Sinclair LeVan, Steubenville, announced that important plans for fall and winter activity would be determined at the meeting.

BOWLING LEAGUE SCHEDULES FOR OPENING ROUND ANNOUNCED

Schedules for the first round of play in the newly-organized Recreation and City Bowling Leagues are being announced.

The opening round of the season's play commences September 9 when the crash of the mineralites against the maples will be heard for the first time in three months.

Six teams compose each league whereas last year the City League had only four teams enrolled.

Matches in the City League will be rolled on Thursday and Friday nights each week with doubleheaders scheduled for Thursday evenings when this league will divide time on the alleys with the Recreation League. Two matches will also be rolled each Friday night.

Matches in the Recreation League will be played on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights.

DAYTON TRAMPS TO OPPOSE RESERVES SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The Dayton Tramps will be out for revenge Sunday afternoon when they play a return game with the Xenia Reserves at Washington Park.

The Tramps have been one of the few teams able to defeat the Xenia Reserves this season. Earlier in the year the Dayton team was blanked by the Reserves 6 to 0 but the score was 2 to 0 until the eighth round when the visiting hurler weakened and allowed four runs.

The Tramps have a record of fourteen victories against only four defeats this season.

The Dayton outfit has added several new players to its lineup and is coming to Xenia Sunday with the expectation of giving the Reserves a neat trouncing.

Manager Bausman claims the Tramps experienced an off day the first time the two teams met and hopes to prove this contention to local fans Sunday.

A large crowd of rooters from Dayton will be on hand to cheer for the Tramps.

Dayton will probably line up with Zetgenthaler at shortstop, Robbleoth at second base, Bausman at third, Freeland in right field, Wells in left field, Thornhill in center field, Shindler at first base, Mundy catching and Baldwin pitching.

DR. CALDWELL loved people. He studied the habits of his patients and tried to improve their ways of living. His observations over a long period of time convinced him many people were ruining their health by a careless choice of laxatives. Then he determined to write a prescription which would get at the cause of constipation and correct it quickly and safely.

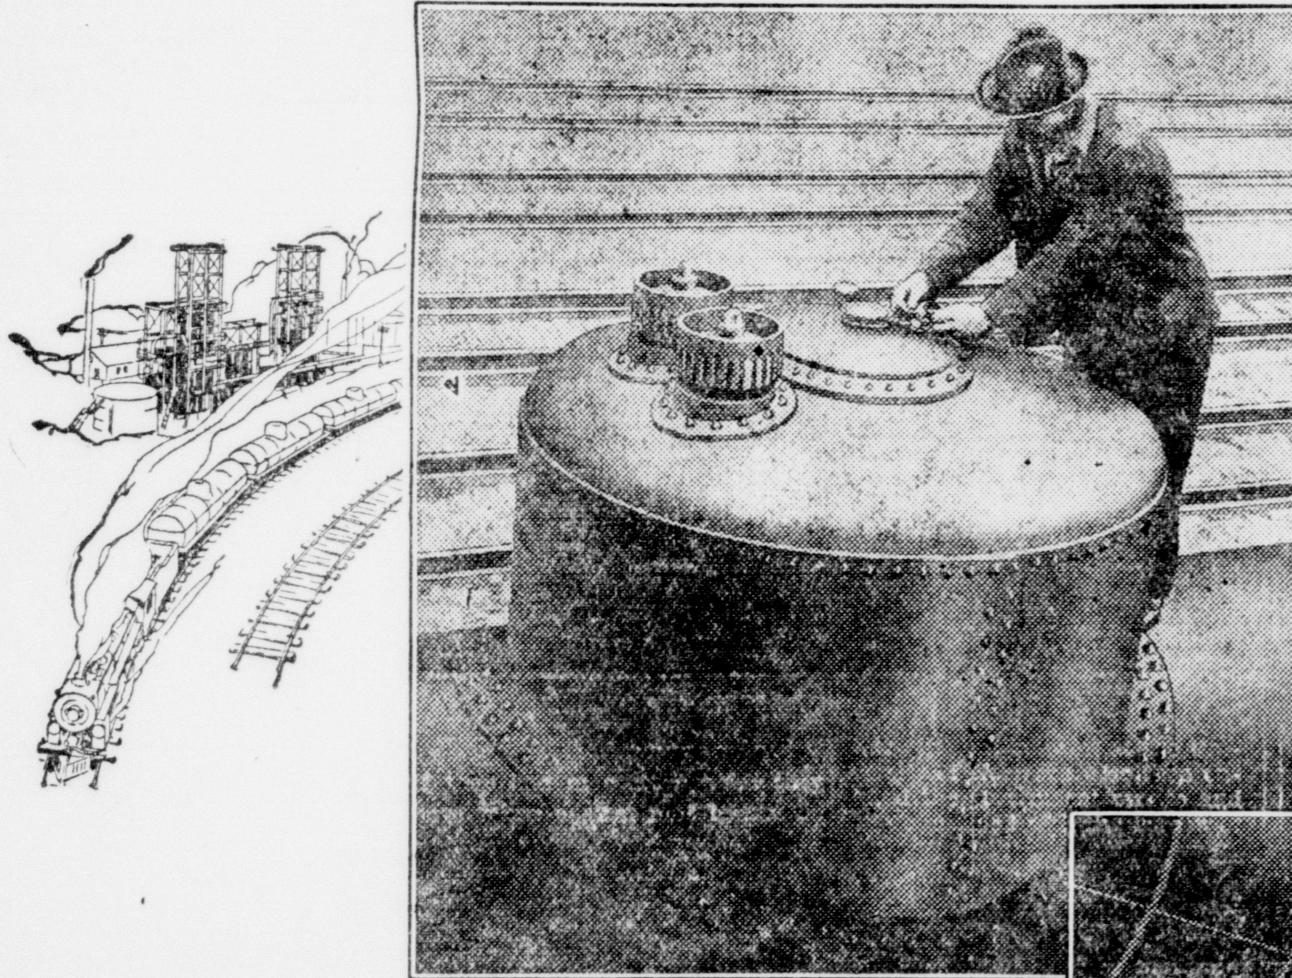

How successful his efforts were is best shown by the fact that the laxative he wrote back in 1885 has become the world's most popular laxative! He prescribed a mixture of herbs and other pure ingredients now known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsi, in thousands of cases where bad breath, coated tongue, gas, headaches, biliousness, and lack of appetite, or energy showed him that the bowels

Tank cars form one link in the distribution chain that brings you Sohio. Left, a typical scene at the Cleveland and Toledo refineries; Standard worker sealing filling dome on tank car.

SAFEGUARDED at every step

SOHIO quality is SEALED IN at the refinery!

In order that your motor may receive the full benefit of the unique quality of Sohio, Red Crown and other Standard Oil (Ohio) products, the most exacting precautions are taken to guard and preserve this quality at every step from the refinery to your gasoline tank.

At the refineries, each tank car is carefully inspected before being filled. After filling, seals are applied to the filling dome. Thus Sohio quality is sealed in. At the Bulk Station seals are removed. Again the car and its contents undergo a rigid inspection. If there is any evidence of a broken seal or of a seal tampered with, the car and its load are immediately rejected.

Painstaking care, constant checking, frequent inspection—these first establish and then preserve for you the superior quality of all Standard Oil (Ohio) products.

Test Sohio in your own car. See what this difference means to your motor! Sohio is sold at 700 Standard Red-White-and-Blue Service Stations and by thousands of dealers throughout Ohio.

of men, women or children were sluggish. It proved successful in the most obstinate cases. So men liked it. Old folks liked it because it never gripes. Children liked its pleasant taste. And everybody is pleased with the gentle way it accomplishes its purpose.

By 1888, the demand for this laxative was so great that the doctor permitted it to be bottled and sold by drugstores. Today you can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from any drugstore in the world.

NO CONTESTS LOOM FOR OFFICES TO BE FILLED THIS FALL

Although vacancies are created by the expiration of terms of several members of the Xenia city Board of Education, the Greene County Board of Education, Xenia Twp. School Board and Xenia Twp. board of trustees, no contests are in prospect for these offices at the November 5 general election.

W. B. Bryson, Clifton Pike, A. L. Fisher, Bowersville, and J. E. Hastings, Cedarville, members of the county school board whose terms expire, are seeking re-election for four-year terms and have filed their nominating petitions with the Greene County board of elections.

H. E. Bales, Paintersville, and J. B. Rife, near Clinton, are members whose terms do not expire.

Two vacancies exist on the city school board through expiration of the terms of J. J. Stout and J. D. Adair. They are both expected to be candidates for re-election for second terms of four years. Charles Bone, L. F. Clark, and M. C. Smith have two more years to serve.

Harry Hagler, Frank Weaver and C. E. Bone, whose terms on the Xenia Twp. school board expire, have not indicated whether they will again be candidates. Horace Anderson and J. F. Shoemaker are hold-over members.

Terms of each of the three Xenia Twp. trustees expire this year and all will run again for another term. John C. Short, Ward Grant and Graham Bryson are the trustees who will seek re-election.

Friday is the deadline date for filing of petitions of candidacy by persons who expect to be candidates for public offices at the general election.

MODERN CUPID GETS HUBBY FOR MOTHER

ELYRIA, O., Sept. 5.—Mrs. Nellie B. Stull, Elyria's "modern Cupid" was responsible for getting her own mother married Labor Day. Mrs. Stull is head of the Widows and Widowers Club and through her, the mother, Mrs. Anna J. Brooks met her new husband, T. E. Jannings, Fort Green, Fla. Jannings read a story about Mrs. Stull's work in a Florida paper. Both, he found, were descendants of Lord Brooks of England. So he wanted to meet Mrs. Stull. He visited Elyria and met Mrs. Stull's mother. The result was a secret wedding at Norwalk Monday. The groom is 72 years old and the bride 60.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25¢ today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store. H. L. Sayre's Drug Store. —Adv.

BELIEVE BURGLAR FIRES HOUSE IN JAMESTOWN AFTER ROBBERY

Authorities at Jamestown are attempting to trace thieves who entered the residence of James Thompson on S. Limestone St. early Thursday morning and after ransacking every room in the house tried to cover traces of the robbery by igniting a pile of household linen in the kitchen with the evident intention of burning the property in the absence of the owner.

Destruction of the residence by fire was averted when Mrs. Bert Sanders, a next door neighbor, about 1:30 a. m., discovered the interior of the Thompson house was ablaze and notified her husband, who rushed over and extinguished the flames before he had gained much headway.

Although the house was filled by smoke, the fire caused small damage.

Sanders summoned John Bangham, marshal of the village, and Mayor W. E. Reid, who conducted a joint investigation but uncovered no clues.

Authorities learned that the intruders entered through a kitchen door and pulled down all window shades before systematically ransacking every room in search of valuables.

It is the theory that matches were used to set the linen on fire since Mr. and Mrs. Thompson are living on their farm near Edgefield this summer, the house has been closed for some time and the electricity was shut off.

The Thompsons were called back to Jamestown but a check upon their return revealed that nothing of value was missing.

TWO YOUTHS HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Two 18-year-old Xenia boys are recovering from painful but not serious injuries sustained when their roadster overturned on the Springfield-Xenia Pike, near Goes Station, after the driver had fallen asleep at the wheel late Tuesday night.

The car was being driven toward Xenia by Junius King, S. Detroit St., who fell asleep at the wheel. He awakened to find the machine headed for a ditch and it left the road and overturned before he could regain control.

William Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Jones, High and Lynn Sts., was pinned beneath the machine but was extricated by his companion. Jones received painful injuries about the back and chest and was scratched on the arms and slightly on the face, but sustained no broken bones. King was thrown clear of the car and escaped with bruises and a cut on one hand.

The accident victims were brought to Xenia by a passing truck.

ELEVEN NEW FACULTY MEMBERS ADDED TO ANTOCH COLLEGE

Eleven new members of the faculty will greet students when Antioch College opens for the fall term of its seventy-sixth year Monday, September 9.

Opening exercises, however, will begin Saturday, September 7 with a faculty meeting at 7 p.m. On Sunday a picnic will be held on the college campus at noon for the students and members of the faculty with vesper services scheduled for 5 p.m. at which President Arthur E. Morgan will be the speaker.

In the evening the freshman faculty advisors are to meet their student advisees at their homes.

Monday and Tuesday have been set aside as registration days for students and on Monday night a "mixer" will be held in Kelly Hall for old and new students and faculty members, enabling them to better acquainted.

Following is a list of new instructors who have been added to the college faculty for the 1929-30 school year:

Carl A. Bock, new associate professor of civil engineering, served as secretary of the Dayton Morgan Engineering Co. from 1916 to 1921 and is at present vice-president of this company, having been appointed in 1921.

Henry Federighi, named assistant professor of biology, obtained degrees at Rutgers and Harvard Universities, was laboratory assistant in the department of zoology and botany at Harvard from 1923-26 and was temporary assistant biologist, Bureau of Fisheries, from 1926-29.

Charles Richard Foster, Jr., appointed instructor in journalism, and assistant to President Morgan, is a former newspaper reporter. Graduating from the University of Pennsylvania in 1923 with his A.B. degree, Foster was a reporter on the Pittsburgh Sun in 1922 and 1924, was assistant to the dean at the University of Pittsburgh in 1924-25 and 1926-27 and was a reporter on the Miami Fla. Daily News in 1925-26.

Elmer Cleveland Foust, instructor in civil engineering, has a long record of public service. Graduating from Purdue University in 1909, he was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Cavalry in 1912; instructor for the board of education at New Albany, Ind., from 1912 to 1915; assistant engineer of the Miami Conservancy District at Dayton, 1915-24; designing engineer, department of sewers, Akron, 1924-25; assistant engineer, drainage department, Miami, Fla., 1925-27; field engineer, commissioners of sewerage, Louisville, Ky., from 1927-29, and at the time of his appointment by the Antioch faculty was assistant engineer of the Springfield, O., Conservancy District.

George F. Nolte, associate professor of engineering, has had international experience, having been professor of Diesel Engine Design, Imperial Technische Hochschule, at Moscow, Russia, from 1913-21; chief engineer at the Kolumba Iron Works, Moscow, 1912-15; technical director at the Danilovskaya Textile Works, Moscow, 1915-21; vice-president, bureau of standards, for the Russian government, 1917-21; in charge of Diesel engine design in the German Imperial Navy Yards at Danzig, 1921-22, and was named assistant chief engineer of the Superior Gas Engine Co. at Springfield, O., in 1922.

Caroline G. Norment, appointed hostess at Antioch, received her A.B. degree at Goucher College in 1909; was instructor in English and German in 1909-11 and head of the English department from 1911-19 at Friends School, Baltimore; assistant to registrar at Goucher College in 1919; member of American Friends Service Committee, mission to Germany, 1919-22 and 1923; representative of this committee in Moscow in 1922; director of Woolman School, Swarthmore and Wyncoate, Pennsylvania, 1923-27.

Gwynn E. Owen, assistant professor of physics, received a Ph.B. degree from Lafayette College in 1919; Ph.D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1923; was instructor in physics at Williams College, 1919-20; physics teacher at the University of Pennsylvania, 1920-23.

George Terborgh, associate professor of economics, received his A.B. degree at Oberlin College in 1922; his A.M. degree from the University of Chicago in 1925; Ph.D. degree from Robert Brookings Graduate School in 1928; served as instructor in English at Hampton Institute in 1923; instructor and fellow in economics at University of Illinois, 1923-24; instructor in economics, Ohio State University, 1925-26; head of economics department, University of New Mexico, 1928-29.

J. Charles Rathburn, professor of civil engineering, obtained his degrees from the University of Washington. Since 1925 he has been professor of civil engineering and head of that department at the South Dakota State School of Mines.

Dr. P. B. Wingfield, appointed associate college physician, received his training at the University of Georgia, and since 1926 has been a public health officer with the Logan County Health Department at Logan, W. Va.

Dr. Minnie Singer, also named an associate physician, received her training at the University of Toronto, and has been a member of the Jackson Clinic, at Jackson, Mich., since 1927.

BREATHES THERE A MAN WITH SOUL SO DEAD,
WHO NEVER TO HIMSELF HATH SAID —

“DOGGONE ALL ASHES”

This advertisement tells of a way to be rid of ash disposal—for this winter and winters to come—for “good and all.” No more ruined suits; no lung-fulls of ashes; no dust settling all over the upstairs rooms; no burned-out grates; no ash piles in the back yard!

GAS HEAT

—is the solution. Install a gas-burning furnace or boiler, or put a gas burner in the furnace or boiler you now own. Besides the elimination of the ashes nuisance—there's no fuel heaving, no bulky storage space needed for fuel; no shivering to coax a bed of fire; no stair-climbing. Gas heat, automatically regulated, is lighted at the beginning of the cold season and turned out at the end, in the Spring—and that is ALL the furnace-tending there is to gas heat. Rooms are KEPT evenly warm, throughout the house.

This is a fairy story about a little girl who lived almost next door to the motion picture studio where all the cameras knew her, but had to go to New York to get a job in the movies, and it begins this way:

Once upon a time there was a little girl named Dorothy Lee, if you insist on names. (But I don't suppose you know her anyway). Well this little girl was a blonde nature and by inclination and by desire and she was 18 years old in her stocking feet.

She lived right next door to the RKO studio, which used to be FBO, which means that she was only seven blocks away. She tried and tried and tried to get into the pictures, but couldn't because all the bad men wouldn't pay any attention to her, cause if they had they would have seen that she had Mary Pickford backed off the map.

Finally, however, little Dorothy Lee got a position with a circuit which puts on stage shows in film theaters, and then she went to New York and got a job in a show called "Hello, Yourself". It was only a little, teeny-weeny job, and you could tell Dorothy cause she was the third from the left in the front row.

After while she worked herself out of the chorus until she got a bit in the show, and when she got a bigger bit to do and finally Fred Waring, the big man had his Pennsylvanians in the show, and he became interested in her. When he made a picture called "Syncopation" for RKO he got Dorothy Lee a part and the studio liked her work and decided to bring her home.

Oh, yes, the studio, which could have had her when she lived only seven blocks away, which is almost next door in Hollywood, bought her a railroad ticket from New York to Hollywood.

The moral of this little fairy story is that if you think you have qualifications to get in the movies, go do something else to attract attention and the studio will hire you and pay you more.

SLANDER CHARGED
IN $3,000 DAMAGE
SUIT FILED HERE

A slander suit demanding $3,000 damages has been filed in Common Pleas Court against Gertrude Schreiber, Dayton-Xenia Pike, by John W. Russell and Neil Russell, a couple living in Beavercreek Twp., who claim their good name and reputation has been damaged by alleged false statements made by the defendant in the presence of their neighbors and friends.

The plaintiffs quote the defendant as saying in the presence of a Mrs. Gruber and others last April 10 that the Russells went to her home on April 1 and stole twenty-eight cans of cherries. The couple claims this charge was repeated by the defendant April 15 in a conversation with Anna Duncan and that on another occasion, while talking to the Leaman children, she accused Mrs. Russell of the theft of her gloves.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell assert they have always enjoyed a good reputation among their friends, that they have been law-abiding citizens and have never been suspected of being law-breakers.

Marshall and Marshall are attorneys for the plaintiffs.

PARTITION SOUGHT IN COURT PETITION

Partition of property has been authorized in the case of Harvey Elam against W. L. Compton and others in Common Pleas Court. C. V. Harness, Milo Anderson and S. H. Deacons were appointed commissioners to appraise the property if the real estate cannot be divided in order that co-tenants may receive their proportions of the estate in severality.

ESTATE VALUED
Estate of Jesse Walhall, deceased, has a gross value of $1,780, composed entirely of personal property, according to an estimate made by Probate Court. Debts total $367 and the cost of administration is placed at $186, leaving a net value of $1,206.

MARRIAGE LICENSE
Edgar Large, Osborn, cement worker, and Ethel Marcella Moon, Osborn. Rev. W. H. Tifford.

FRAME WILL HEAD DOWNTOWN CLUB

Philip W. Frame was elected "pro" a title corresponding to president of The Downtown Country Club for the coming year succeeding J. M. Hyman at the annual dinner-meeting of the organization held at the Trebein Tavern, Dayton-Xenia Pike, Wednesday night. John Purdon was re-elected "steward" for another year. The position is the same as secretary and treasurer. Hyman had served as "pro" two years.

Plans for club activities during the ensuing year were discussed and arrangements were made for special entertainment at the bi-monthly meeting scheduled for October 2. The meeting Wednesday marked the first gathering of members in more than three months, as no meetings are held during the summer.

CLAIMS ALLOWED

Thirteen sheep and animal claims amounting to $475.05 have been approved and ordered paid by County Commissioners. Under a new state law, these claims are adjusted quarterly instead of annually as has heretofore been the case.

RHEUMATISM AND NEURITIS YIELD TO NEW KONJOLA

Grateful Lady, 78, Tells Of Her Happy Experience With Modern Compound.

"For several years I was a victim of stubborn rheumatism and neuritis," said Mrs. Leah Bashor, 2335 Newport Avenue, Dayton, Ohio. "I was subject to dizzy spells and once when one of these spells came over me I fell, and was confined to my bed for 13 weeks. I had just about come to the conclusion that there simply was no relief for me.

"I heard of the wonderful things Konjola was doing for others and decided to give it a chance. After a short treatment the rheumatism and neuritis disappeared. I am continuing with Konjola and know that in a short time all my whole system will be regulated and back to normal. I am grateful for the new health Konjola brought me, and am glad to recommend a medicine of its merit."

Konjola is sold in Xenia, Ohio, at the Gallaher Drug Store, and by the best druggists in all the towns throughout this entire section. Adv.
